"Vassilis Karakatsanis at Argo"

THIS outstandingly brilliant exhibition is titled "Urban Materials and the Unknown Land" and continues until March 10.

Entirely original. Vassilis is a very welcome visitor, indeed, always turning up from Greece with new ideas that relate and impress. Exceptional colour with sensitive application.

It is also a rare occasion. There is something entirely new in certain works.

The artist appears to be moving into a phase of painting which I have never experienced before. You could call it post Vassarely or post-Bridget Riley, or, op art goes representational.

Go to Argo for a visual awakening.
